

DON'T FALL PREY TO VULTURE CRIME

Protect yourself from criminals who are hunting down victims in their own homes

Every 15 seconds someone falls for a scam. If it seems too good to be true, be suspicious.

Criminals are hunting down victims in their own homes. Like vultures, they prey on the vulnerable. Crafty, cunning and clever, they know how to dazzle minds and paralyse normal thought processes. Someone whose mind has been 'dazzled' will become excited and focus only on the fictitious rewards being offered.

Don't fall prey to postal scam vultures

Watch out for lotteries, prize draws, clairvoyants, catalogues, secret deals, 'get rich quick' schemes and inheritance notifications.

Think! Never send cash, disclose personal details, or buy goods to claim a prize.

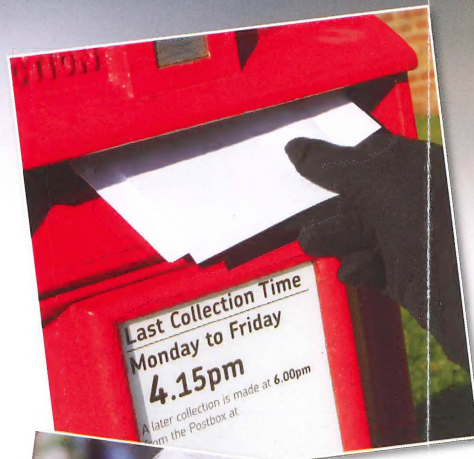

Think! Always seek professional advice before signing up to ANY type of investment scheme, including precious gems, carbon credits, solar panels, land, wine or property.

Think! If you fall for a scam your details could end up on what criminals call a 'suckers' list. These lists are circulated to other criminals worldwide, meaning more criminals will try to get their hands on your cash.

Don't fall prey to phone scam vultures

Think! You don't have to get into discussions over the phone with anyone.

Think! Don't be pressurised into answering surveys. Although you might not be asked for cash, your personal information could be sold on. Keep your business as your business. Just say, "No thank you, I'm not interested", and hang up immediately.

THINK JESSICA

Registered Charity No: 1148186

Think! Don't give out bank or credit card details. These could be used fraudulently.

Think! Banks and the police NEVER ask for pin numbers, or send couriers to collect cards.

A call blocker is a device which blocks nuisance phone calls. Think Jessica recommends 'trueCall'. Trading Standards' tests show it blocked 98% of calls.

Visit www.truecall.co.uk or call 08000 336 330.

Don't fall prey to doorstep vultures

Think! Keep your front and back doors locked. If someone calls at your house, always use the chain or door bar. If it's a person you don't recognise or are not expecting, don't open the door fully. Genuine callers will be happy to arrange a future appointment. Then you can arrange for a friend or family member to be with you.

Think! Never agree to have work done to your home or garden by someone who knocks at your door.

If you need a tradesperson, it's easy to find someone who has been vetted and had their work monitored. Think Jessica recommends www.checkatrade.com or call 0333 0146 190.
